

Note 2 - Session 1, Part B

Each activity presented here begins with a question and then considers appropriate data for answering that question. A set of measurements produced by a previous class is provided for each activity.

You may want to collect your own measurements for some of the activities, particularly if you are working with a group. This would provide group members with additional experience and understanding; however, it also requires more time.